Experience

2013 – present

Strategic Design Consultant – Manaseven

The product design studio I created in late 2013. I work with organisations ranging from early-stage startups to enterprise agile transformation projects to provide research-led, design services.

2014

UX Design Director – Blonde

I provided an interim Head of UX role at Blonde during a substantial transition period. This entailed board representation, strategic planning, scoping and pitching for new work, tactical research and design services.

2011–2013

UX producer – Whitespace

I worked within a small UX team helping to scope, define, research and design user-centred solutions for clients across responsive web, mobile and social.

2007–2011

Freelance web designer

My first foray into the world of freelance design. A great introduction to the skills and experience I would rely on for my first big agency break.

Key skills

Brand strategy, pitching, illustration, user research, usability testing, interaction design, UI design, prototyping, UX writing, front-end development, PHP, Javascript, data analysis, media production.
